A dense, intricate border of stylized floral and leaf motifs surrounds the central text. The design features various flowers, including what appears to be a large central flower at the top, and clusters of small berries or buds. The overall style is characteristic of the Arts and Crafts movement.

A NOTE ON THE PRINTING OF MORRIS CHINTZES.

THE INDIGO VATS.

THE art of printing cotton and linen from hand-blocks, using the old vegetable dyes which give so permanent and so beautiful a colouring to the eastern fabrics which have come down to us, was revived by WILLIAM MORRIS in 1881.

For some years the experiments and uncertainties attendant on the process caused a heavy loss, but these were overcome by degrees, and "chintz printing" took its place among the regular Merton Abbey industries. WILLIAM MORRIS himself designed all the earlier chintzes and established their colourings, his standards being in use to this day; and every length of chintz that comes from the works is scrupulously checked and compared with its standard before it is taken into stock.

Considering how the work is done, the variations are extraordinarily small. Many of the favourite chintzes, such as the "Rose," "Evenlode," "Wandle," "Kennet," "Strawberry Thief," "Lodden," and coloured "Wey," depend upon the precarious process of "discharging" indigo for their effect, there being no blue so perfect and true as indigo, or on the whole so "fast." The cloth is first dyed all over in an indigo vat (see illustration) to a uniform depth of blue, and is then printed with a bleaching reagent which either reduces or removes the colour as required by the design. Mordants are next printed upon the bleached parts and others where red is wanted, and the whole length of material is then immersed in a madder vat calculated to give the proper tint. This process is repeated for yellow (welds), the three colours being superimposed on each other to give green, purple, or orange. All loose colouring matter is then cleared away, and the colours are set by passing the fabric through soap at almost boiling heat. The final treatment in the process is to lay the cloth flat on the grass with its printed face to the light, so that the whites in the design may be completely purified and all fugitive colour removed in nature's own way. This process is called "crofting," and the meadows round the works are a very gay sight with long strips of brightly coloured material stretched upon the buttercups and daisies.

that when faded it can be revived by skilful cleaning. Aniline dyes are not used in the MORRIS works at all.

It should be added that MORRIS chintzes are not glazed, and are more beautiful unglazed. In this condition moreover they serve equally well for wall-hangings, curtains, curtain blinds, and loose covers for furniture. MORRIS & COMPANY have revived some old English chintz designs of exceptional merit which are finished in the same way, but can be glazed (calendared) for loose covers if ordered in sufficient quantity.

The firm supplies plain dyed cotton linings (indigo, madder, rust and other shades) of chintz width, as well as small patterned linings, including the popular “Borage” pattern, which, like the “Eyebright,” “Flowerpot,” and “Wreath-net,” was originally designed by WILLIAM MORRIS as a cotton dress fabric, in the days of the so-called “Æsthetic” revival. For washable garden frocks these are still hard to surpass.

The following note on the MORRIS chintzes is taken from Professor J. W. Mackail's admirable “Life of William Morris” :—

“ Perhaps the most important new development that the business took after it was removed to Merton Abbey was the production of printed cotton goods—the celebrated “Morris chintzes,” which soon became more widely known and more largely used than his woven stuffs or wall-papers. Their success was so great that deliberate or unconscious imitations of them soon began to be produced. Their adaptability to many small purposes gave them an advantage over the paper hangings and tapestries. To hang a room with good hand-printed paper is a matter of serious expense to many people who would like to do it, but do not very acutely realise the difference between it and a machine-printed paper that can be produced for one-sixth and bought for one-third of the price. But a mere scrap of these bright and beautifully patterned chintzes can be used to light up a room, as a curtain, or the cover of a chair or a cushion, or in twenty other ways ; and perhaps the primary use for which these fabrics were meant, that of wall hangings, is the one to which they have been most seldom applied.”

"EYEBRIGHT," 1124. INDIGO BLUE AND WHITE. 2/- PER YARD.

The above pair of chintzes, together with the "Flower-pot," were designed by William Morris for dress fabrics, about the time of the "Aesthetic" movement, and make very pretty garden frocks. They have been recently revived, and are in great demand for curtain blinds and small furniture.

"POMEGRANATE." RED AND BLUE COLOURING. PRINTED ON LINEN (3/10 PER YARD), AND ON COTTON (3/2 PER YARD). A SMALL DESIGN, VERY SUITABLE FOR BEDSPREADS, ETC. THE "LITTLE CHINIZ" HAS THE SAME COLOURING ON A STILL SMALLER SCALE.

"SNAKEHEAD." A CLOSE DESIGN OF GREAT BEAUTY AND INTRICACY, IN BLUE, GREEN, OR DARK PURPLE COLOURING WITH ORANGE AND RED FLOWERS. THE TWO FIRST ARE SPECIALLY POPULAR AS FURNITURE COVERINGS.

A NOTE ON THE WEAVING OF MORRIS FABRICS.

THE production of coarse woollen serges, decorated by hand, was one of the first undertakings of the original historic firm of "Morris, Marshall, Faulkner & Co.," and specimens of such early efforts in tapestry were exhibited in the great Exhibition of 1862. It was not, however, until late in the seventies that William Morris succeeded in obtaining a Jacquard hand-loom of the old pattern, then virtually extinct, and began to design for it the wonderful series of fabrics in figured silk, silk and wool, silk and linen, and pure wool, which have helped to effect the great modern revolution in decorative taste—a revolution which is only partially set back by the present reversion to tasteless extravagance and the fashion for antique and alien styles.

Since 1881, when the Merton Abbey works were acquired, hand-weaving has been one of the staple industries of the firm, and the illustrations which follow give but a "thumb-nail" idea of the richly coloured curtain and furniture materials produced upon the Merton looms. The vegetable dyes which are principally used give to these fabrics a quality of pure colouring, quite different from the muddy-looking hues which are vulgarly known as "art shades," and quite as far removed from the usual manufacturer's dyes. Both silks and tapestries are made of the purest materials obtainable, and will outlast all the modern machine-made fabrics in which cheapness has been obtained at the cost of a gradual and increasing degeneration.

Dealing with these hand-woven materials, Mr. Aymer Vallance says in his "Art of William Morris":—

"Morris drew a number of designs for silk damasks and brocades and woven wool-tapestries, as well as a limited number for fabrics of silk and linen, and of silk and wool. The latter combination, as in the case of the 'Dove and Rose' material—quite apart from the beauty of the design—has an additional beauty of texture which is peculiarly delightful; the weightier substance of the wool drawing the slighter-bodied surface of the silk into delicate ripples upon which the light plays with charming effect. The 'Bird and Vine' is a beautiful and characteristic design in woollen tapestry, and the 'Peacock and Dragon' (see coloured illustration), in the same material, is a large pattern for which the artist himself had a special liking. One more example may be selected from the productions of a later date, viz., the diagonal woollen tapestry named the 'Trail.' The unit of this pattern is as simple as can be—a conventional leaf and a single spray of flowers; yet the richest effect is obtained by the simple but ingenious device of varying the colour of the wool threads, so that the flowers appear alternating horizontally in red, white, and pink. The general colour of the web is a warm green in several tones."

This silk Broccatelle, which is also made in crimson and gold, is the most sumptuous material woven on the Merton Abbey looms. With its raised pattern and rich "shot" colouring it forms a gorgeous hanging for walls or panels, and has been used in this way at Stanmore Hall and other well-known houses decorated in the Morris style.

MORRIS THREE-PLY TAPESTRIES.

THE "TULIP AND ROSE" THREE-PLY TAPESTRY, DESIGNED BY WILLIAM MORRIS.

The Three-ply tapestries are woven much in the same way as Kidderminster or "hand-loom" carpets, with a rough bold texture of great durability. They are comparatively inexpensive. The "Vine" and "Campion" designs are executed in the same make, and afford a good range of plain or many coloured effects.

THE "VENETIAN" HEAVY SILK AND LINEN DAMASK, WITH JASPÉ GROUND. COLOURS: RED, OLD ROSE, BLUE, GREEN, BLUE-GREEN, OLD GOLD. A HANDSOME STRONG WEARING FABRIC FOR CURTAINS OR FURNITURE COVERING. 54 IN. WIDE. 12/6 PER YARD.

ALSO THE "TULIP AND ROSE" DESIGN IN SAME FABRIC. COLOURS STOCKED: BLUE, GREEN, BLUE AND GREEN, PINK AND GOLD.

MORRIS SILK AND LINEN FABRICS.

THE "APPLE" SILK AND LINEN DAMASK. 54 IN. WIDE.
24/- PER YARD. IN THREE COLOURINGS.

THE "POPPY" SILK AND LINEN DAMASK. 54 IN. WIDE.
24/- PER YARD. IN DULL GREEN AND GOLD.

THE "GOLDEN BOUGH" SILK AND LINEN DAMASK. GREEN AND GOLD.
SOFT PINK, GOLD, OR RED, ON ECRU GROUND. 54 IN. WIDE.
27/6 PER YARD.

These Hand-woven Silk and Linen Fabrics have a softness of texture and a quality of sheen not found in any other material. They hang in very beautiful folds. "The Golden Bough" is much used in Ecclesiastical Work, for Frontals and for Hangings.

MORRIS TAPESTRY HANGINGS.

THE "PEACOCK" HAND-WOVEN TAPESTRY. DESIGNED BY WILLIAM MORRIS. 72 IN. WIDE 25/- PER YARD.
IN 5 COLOURINGS. ALSO 54 IN. WIDE, 18/- PER YARD.

This fine design, which was a favourite with its author, requires a large room to set off its proportions. It is essentially Gothic in character, and carried out in low-toned schemes of colour, in which blue, green, or red predominate, it makes a perfect hanging for a mediæval castle or mansion.

MORRIS TAPESTRY HANGINGS.

THE "BIRD" HAND-WOVEN TAPESTRY. 54 IN. WIDE, 16/6 PER YARD. IN MADDER RED OR INDIGO BLUE COLOURING.
(SHOWN IN FOLDS.)

The "Bird" Tapestry is one of Mr. Morris's best known and most widely admired fabrics. The walls of his drawing-room at Kelmscott House were hung with the blue way of it, in slight folds, and no more beautiful material for this purpose, or for portière and curtain hangings, could be desired.

MORRIS TAPESTRY HANGINGS.

THE "ELMCOTE" HAND-WOVEN TAPESTRY. 54 IN. WIDE, 18/6 PER YARD. (SHOWN IN FOLDS.)

The "Elmcote" forms one of a range of Merton Abbey tapestries, woven in natural-dyed wools of rich but low-toned blue, green, yellow, and red colourings, arranged in various combinations so that one or other predominates and gives its distinctive character to each fabric.

MORRIS TAPESTRY HANGINGS.

THE "TULIP AND NET" HAND-WOVEN TAPESTRY. DESIGNED BY WILLIAM MORRIS.
72 IN. WIDE. IN ALL WOOL, 22/6 PER YARD; IN SILK AND WOOL, 28/6 PER YARD.

The "Tulip and Net" is one of five well-known Morris designs which are woven two yards wide, making a good curtain breadth or portière without joining. The light indigo colouring of this makes it a rival favourite to the "Bird" tapestry. It is extensively used for church hangings as well as for domestic purposes.

MORRIS WOOL TAPESTRIES.

"VINE" HAND-WOVEN TAPESTRY, DESIGNED BY WILLIAM MORRIS. 54 IN. WIDE. 22/6 PER YARD. GREEN, RED, OR BLUE COLOURING.

"SQUIRREL" HAND-WOVEN TAPESTRY. 54 IN. WIDE. 16/6 PER YARD. SIMILAR IN TEXTURE TO THE "BIRD" TAPESTRY. BLUE AND BUFF, RED AND GREEN, GREEN AND BUFF COLOURINGS.

"ISPAHAN" HAND-WOVEN TAPESTRY. 54 INS. WIDE. 19/9 PER YARD. IN GREENS AND BLUES, OR RED COLOURING.

"DIAGONAL TRAIL" HAND-WOVEN TAPESTRY. 54 IN. WIDE. 18/6 PER YARD. GREEN AND PINK ON ECRU GROUND, OR DITTO ON DARK BLUE GROUND.

MORRIS WOOL TAPESTRIES.

REPRODUCTIONS OF ANTIQUE FABRICS.

MORRIS & COMPANY have made a collection from France, Italy, Portugal, etc., of some of the best reproductions of rich antique materials, suitable for the decoration of great houses, and for the covering of handsome furniture.

These include CUT VELVETS, BROCADES, SILK DAMASKS, TAPESTRIES, and ORIENTAL EMBROIDERIES of which the colouring and period are both good. Special mention may be made of the inexpensive silk Brocades woven on the old Portuguese looms in traditional designs and colours.

The Firm will undertake the reproduction, in sufficient quantities, of any special fabric that a customer may wish copied.

THE MORRIS WORKS AT MERTON ABBEY.

“Even to the present day, as one turns out of the dusty high road and passes through the manager’s little house, the world seems left in a moment behind. The old-fashioned garden is gay with irises and daffodils in spring, with hollyhocks and sunflowers in autumn, and full, summer by summer, of the fragrant flowering shrubs that make a London suburb into a brief June Paradise. It rambles away towards the mill-pond with its fringe of tall poplars; the cottons lie bleaching on grass thickly set with buttercups; the long low buildings with the clear rushing little stream running between them, and the wooden outside staircases leading to their upper story, have nothing about them to suggest the modern factory; even upon the great sunk dye-vats the sun flickers through leaves, and trout leap outside the windows of the long cheerful room where the carpet-looms are built.”
